DYNAMITE KILLS COUPLE

Dreadful Accident Happens in Dallas County.

HEARD FOR MANY MILES.

Charles Barnes Has an Arm Brought Off and Disemboweled and Killed Instantly, While the Other Youth Expires in a Short Time.

Dallas, Feb. 17.—A frightful accident occurred near Eagle Ford, six miles west of this city.

Charles Barnes and Lem Young, aged eighteen years, picked up a number of dynamite cartridges where a powder house is located, near the crossing of the Texas and Pacific railway and a county road. The impression is that one of the parties set fire to a firecracker and the concussion exploded the death-dealing cartridges in their pockets. In an instant a terrible explosion occurred, the detonation of which was heard in the eastern part of Dallas, over ten miles away.

An arm of Charles Barnes was torn from his body, he was disemboweled and otherwise terribly mangled. His death was instantaneous. The other youth lingered a few minutes before death relieved him of his sufferings. His body was also badly disfigured. The explosion occurred just before 10 o'clock this morning.

There were several other boys in company with the two, but none of them sustained anything more serious than a severe shaking up.

The Barnes boy resided with his parents in a tent in the vicinity of Eagle Ford, while the other unfortunate boy also resided with his family in that neighborhood.

PRESIDENT'S PRESENCE.

Report Is He May Be Called on to Testify.

Muskogee, Okla., Feb. 17.—It is currently reported here that the attorneys for the eight Muskogee men, including Governor Haskell, indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of conspiracy to defraud, will make an effort to have President Roosevelt subpoenaed at the trial of the defendants. They will endeavor to prove by him that he knew two years ago of the conditions that existed here, having learned it from the report of Special Inspector William Dudley Foulke.

An effort will be made to show that there was no action taken at the time, and the recent activity and indictment was brought about as the result of the political controversy between the president and Governor Haskell.

BRAVE YOUNG LADY.

Chases Burglar Several Blocks and Compels Him to Return.

Fort Worth, Feb. 17.—Ethel Callo-way, aged nineteen, captured a robber just as he was leaving the house with a bundle of valuables under his arm. She chased him several blocks and forced him to return to her home, where he was placed under arrest. He gave his name as C. L. Neldholdt. It is alleged he entered the house posing as a boarder.

Writ of Error Granted.

Austin, Feb. 17.—The supreme court granted a writ of error in the case of the state against County Attorney John W. Brady of this county and set the hearing for March 17. This case involves fees of the county attorney in the Waters-Pierce Oil company case. In granting the writ the court says: "We are inclined to think that so much of the act of 1899 as provided for the fees of prosecuting attorneys was repealed by the act of 1903." This means that Brady, whose fees aggregated approximately $400,000, will be cut down to about $90,000 should the court on final hearing hold this view of the question.

Clyde Potter, Badly Burned.

Sulphur Springs, Tex., Feb. 17.—The Addis hotel was destroyed by fire. Loss is estimated at $6,000. The property was owned by L. M. Lewis of Marlow, Okla. Clyde Potter was seriously burned.

Succumbs to Burns.

Dallas, Feb. 17.—Seaman Broymen, one year old, buried Tuesday, expired Wednesday morning.

ATTORNEYS' TILT.

Lively Scene Over Alleged Remark of Sharp.

Nashville, Feb. 17.—There was a large crowd in attendance on the Cooper-Sharp trial Wednesday.

The defendants were attended in the court by relatives as usual and Mrs. Carmack was again supported to a seat behind counsel for the state. She seemed weaker than Tuesday and rested her head on her sister's shoulder. She kept her heavy veil down over her face.

The state's first witness was W. J. Smith, an insurance agent, who corroborated the testimony of Hugh Morton, that John Sharp cursed Carmack just before the senatorial contest in 1905.

On cross-examination Smith was asked if this remark, "that the country would be better off if Carmack was dead and in hell twenty years ago," had not been made before Gov. Patterson "was born as a politician." "Well," said Smith, "he (Patterson) was just beginning to bob up."

The state objected to any reference to Governor Patterson and was sustained.

The next witness was L. A. Welch, a barber at the Tulane hotel who shaved John D. Sharp a few days before the election. Sharp, he continued, was reading an editorial in Carmack's paper and said: "The — ought to be in hell."

"To whom was he referring?" "To Senator Carmack."

The defense attacked Welch with vigor and forced him to make some contradictions. As a result a row between counsel was narrowly averted. "Untruth," "falsification" and other terms dangerously near shorter and uglier words were hurled back and forth.

General Garner was on his feet for the state and Generals Washington and Meek for the defense, all talking at once. Judge Hart broke into the debate sharply with the assertion that any more personalities would bring painful results to those indulging in them.

Miss Mary Skeffington, state librarian, was the next witness. She told of reaching the corner of Union street and Seventh avenue. "I looked down toward Union street and saw a man approaching. He was about at the crossing of the two streets. It was John Sharp, whom I have known many years. When I heard the shots I looked up and said: 'What is that?' He said: 'It is shooting.' I asked: 'Who is shooting?' He replied 'It is Colonel Duncan Cooper shooting Senator Carmack.'"

"How was he standing with regard to the scene of the shooting?" "With his back to the shooting."

"What next?"

"He turned around and walked back with me up to the scene of the shooting. I said: 'Oh, Mr. Sharp, you are not jesting, are you?' and he said 'No. Miss Skeffington, I am not.' I saw four figures gathered and others came. Sharp walked over to the group, stood a minute and then rejoined me. I said: 'Mr. Sharp, is he dead?' His reply was: 'He is.' Then I became sick and frightened and hurried away."

Miss Skeffington was cross-examined very briefly, defense asking only if Sharp might not have turned and seen the shooting without witness seeing him. The young woman was quite sure he could not, as she had not taken her eyes from him and she was glancing at him as the shots were fired.

Accidental Killing.

Arnett, Okla., Feb. 17.—William Clark, living near Harmon, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of a revolver which he was taking apart. The screwdriver he was using slipped and struck the trigger, discharging the bullet, which lodged in Clark's side.

Badly Burned Corpse Found.

McAlester, Okla., Feb. 17.—A man's corpse badly burned, lying beside a camp fire ten miles west of this city, was found. Two letters found in his pocket were addressed to William Brannenberg at Keo, Ark., and signed "Your loving sister, Tida Baker, Martinsville, Ill."

Defendant Says Nothing.

McKinney, Tex., Feb. 17.—Justice Webb returned a verdict that Tom Foreman, a McKinney restaurant man, who was shot and killed near this city Tuesday night, met death at the hands of Wadill o'Wrsham. The latter was jailed. He refuses to make a statement. The shooting occurred at the home of W. M. Wordsworth.

NO POLITICS IN CHURCHES

Kellie Causes Sensation In the Senate by Bill.

Austin, Feb. 17.—A sensation was created in the senate Wednesday morning by Senator Kellie, who introduced a bill prohibiting political speeches, in "all public houses, commonly known as churches," in connection with religious services or otherwise, declaring it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine of $50 or ten days' imprisonment.

Terrell (of Bowie) objected strongly to the measure.

Sturgeon dealt several blows, saying it violated the right of free speech and religious freedom.

Terrell tried to prevent the bill going to a committee, but the chair held that the only course open and the senate had no right to discuss a bill until reported by the committee.

Cofor declared the measure would be handled properly. The bill was referred to the judiciary committee.

Other bills introduced in the senate were:

By Holsey, amending the county depository law so as to exempt county officers from loss caused by negligence or failure of such depositories.

By Stokes: To require insurance companies other than life, before they are granted a permit to file bond to secure all lawful obligations.

By Cofor: Exempting endowment funds from taxation.

By Weinert: Prohibiting ginners knowingly mixing dirt, rock, etc., in cotton seed.

By Terrell (of McLennan): To refund liquor dealers' unearned amount of licenses.

By Ward: Requiring insurance companies to maintain general offices in the state before they are given a permit.

By Kellie: Requiring all cars to be equipped with comfortable vestibules for motormen, and that all cars shall be closed from Nov. 15 to March 15, and that all cars shall have aisles in center ending with a closed wall, to separate motormen from passengers.

There was another stir in the senate Wednesday over the adoption of the report of investigation of charges of Senator Thomas, which was precipitated over the question of the senate further investigating charges made by Thomas of over 1,000 specific violations of anti-lobby law and resulted in the senate refusing to discharge the investigating committee until it had reported on this phase of investigation.

Soon after the senate met Senator Sturgeon, chairman of the investigating committee, submitted the report of the committee, recommending that the senate accept the same, and further recommending that all testimony be made part of the record and printed in the journal. It also recommended that upon the acceptance of the report that no further action be taken upon the matter herein investigated. This report was adopted, as it only embodied the result of investigation of that part of the charges reflecting on the honesty and integrity of the senate.

Senator Brachfield then offered a motion that the committee be instructed to report to the senate after the morning call Thursday what proceedings shall be adopted as to further investigation of charges made by Thomas as to specific violations of the anti-lobby law. This precipitated a discussion, but was adopted.

The senate passed finally the senate bill providing for the establishment of a cotton bagging factory to be operated under the jurisdiction of the penitentiary board, the board to select the location and also that delinquent juveniles may be worked in the factory operated by the state.

Just before the senate adjourned Wednesday Senator Thomas made a motion that another committee be appointed, of which he was to be a member, whose duty it shall be to see that all proceedings connected with the charges he has made be printed in the journal. He stated that some of the thing connected with the investigation had been omitted from the journal.

The chair asked Thomas by whom were these things left out? Was it by the chair?

Thomas said he would rather not answer that question.

This irritated the chair, who insisted on knowing who it was who was responsible. Was it the journal clerk? Thomas said he did not know, but things had been left out.

Brachfield said that on the night when the "love feast" speeches were being made accepting Thomas' retraction he told the stenographers, after consultation with President pro tem. Terrell, who was in the chair, it was not necessary to take down these speeches, as the stenographers were tired.

On the question of personal privilege Senator Terrell (president pro tem.) said that he wished to assume all responsibilities for leaving out these "hot air speeches."

Senator Greer, a member of the investigating committee, charged that the motion of Thomas for the appointment of another committee reflected on the present committee and he resented it. The whole thing ended by Thomas withdrawing his motion.

Taxicab Tragedies.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 17.—A murder and suicide in a taxicab occurred here. The woman who was murdered by her companion, was Stella Rocktasheel, aged eighteen, and the man was George E. Knaut, aged twenty years.

THE COMMERCIAL SECRETARIES.

The commercial secretaries association has said and done some things which have caused a wide spread impression that the organization is dominated by "outside capital." This is unfortunate because it seriously cripples the usefulness of the association. To convince the people that there is no danger in "taking the bridges off" and "turning Texas loose" to be exploited, without restraint by combinations of capitalists outside of the state is a hopeless task. Their experience with Standard Oil, with the Harvester trust, with the American Book company and other similar combinations has taught them a lesson which all the sophistry and special pleading of the secretaries and affiliated interests cannot cause them to forget. They remember that it was Jim Hog, than whom no truer and braver friend of the people ever lived, who put the bridges on these plunderers and how he was cursed and anathematized for it by the same tongues and pens which now shriek "demagogue" if anybody intimates that "outside capital" is not altogether altruistic, holy and beneficent. It is really an insult to the intelligence of the people to expect them to forget so soon the hundreds of sections of valuable land that the railroads had gobbled up and Jim Hog forced them to disgorge.

On the other hand it is true that Governor Campbell and the Thirtieth legislature in pursuance of the Hogg policies have gone to an extreme never contemplated by the great reformer himself, for it is not even conceivable that he would favor sumptuary or unjust legislation, such, for instance, as the barber law and double taxation. Legislation, like a pendulum, in escaping from one extreme oscillates too far the other way.

If the commercial secretaries will cease to demand that the bridges be taken off but only insist that the check rein be loosened they will not continue to be, as they are now leaders without a following. But they must be candid and cease to attempt to rally the people under banners bearing devices of double interpretation.

NOVEL WAY OF PREACHING.

A New York millinery firm has sent out a price list of thirty-two pages, prefaced by two pages of preachments original and selected from the sayings of the world's greatest writers. Here are a few samples:

"If the devil finds you idle he'll put you to work as sure as hell."

"An idle man is a dead man who can't be buried."

"Christ did not say, 'come unto me all ye rich and lazy loafers and pleasure seekers and I will give you rest.'"

"Even the creative energy of God is called work in the first page of the Bible."

Of course the Ananias club will be continued during the Taft administration. Isn't it one of the Roosevelt policies?

The difference between ambrosia and angel food is that the former is supposed to be the aliment of heathen gods and the latter of Christian angels.

Moral energy is as far superior to physical as God is above nature. A resort to physical force to produce a moral effect shows a lack of faith in God.

The national house of representatives has done tardy justice to Arizona and New Mexico in passing the bill to admit them to statehood. But for political reasons they would have been admitted several years ago.

A local fraternal organization of negroes promises every member a forty dollar funeral, to be attended by all surviving members in the uniform of the order. This appeals to the vanity of both the living and the dead.

The good people of this country are in the majority and have the power to do what they really want done. For instance, they can reform the drama by staying away from bad shows. This is a more thorough and effective method than restrictive legislation.

It makes little difference whether the word "obey" be eliminated from or retained in the marriage vow of the bride. Wives who obey their husbands would do so without it and others regard the obligation as binding only when obedience is in the line of inclination.

"Men learn profanity almost as easily as parrots," says the Gainsville Register. This is true only of men of coarse moral fibre. To a man of refined moral sensibility profanity and obscenity are as repulsive as they are to every true woman. Many men who swear or use vulgar language have good qualities but no man addicted to such vices is a perfect gentleman.

E. H. Harriman, the great railroad man, is reported to be a physical wreck and, as Jay Gould did, has come to Texas with the hope of recruiting his health. He will live in a tent and expects to spend several months in San Antonio. He is more an object of pity than any contented man, however poor, who enjoys good health.

Two state rangers under orders direct from Governor Campbell went from Austin to San Antonio, where they raided a Mexican gambling house and captured the whole crowd, about forty in number. Of course, it would be better if the local officers would enforce the law, but if they fail or refuse to do so it is the proper caper for the governor to take it in hand.

There should not and probably will not be any opposition to the bill introduced in the house to provide for reclaiming of lands subject to overflow. The measure seeks to secure the cooperation of the federal government in a topographical survey as a basis for the reclamation. After the survey the plans of the levees can be made intelligently and then those interested can form levee districts and issue bonds. This is a matter in which Brazos county is vitally interested.

FUNERAL OF CAPT. BELL.

One of the Largest Ever Seen in Bryan. Beautiful Floral Tributes.

The funeral of Capt. W. A. Bell was conducted yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of Mrs. Bettie Bell, with interment following in the City Cemetery.

The remains reached the city from his home in the bottom at one o'clock and the procession that followed was fully a mile in length. It was made up of his neighbors and friends in the bottom, a number of prominent Caldwell citizens, the entire Italian colony in the bottom and some two or three hundred of the faithful negro laborers from the farms he managed and the neighboring farms. It was indeed a touching sight to see these faithful servants who had been under his direction and leadership for so long, following their dead master. Their sorrow was genuine and was clearly depicted on every face.

The floral offerings were the handsomest ever seen in Bryan and their tasteful arrangement upon the grave by the ladies, converted it into a veritable bank of flowers.

The funeral services were conducted by Dr. T. H. Morris, pastor of the First Methodist church, and the following gentlemen acted as pall bearers: John Gregg, A. L. Ewing, R. H. Seale, Tom Goodson, Rube Grant, R. S. Newsome, Jim Ogden and B. L. Reed.

The following of his neighbors and friends were present from the bottom: R. S. Newsome, A. H. Eaves, G. G. Loftin, R. F. Fields, A. Ewing, T. M. Ewing, R. H. Grant, T. B. Goodson, Jim Ogden, Clarence Elliott, Jacob Fox, Ed Easley, Geo. Foster, Sam Foster, Mr. and Mrs. John Gregg, Miss Eula Gregg, Miss Moore, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Al Goodwin.

Caldwell was represented by W. J. Harris, E. G. Jenkins, T. J. Oliver, E. T. Oliver, Green Grant and L. O. Fraim.

TEXAS WOMANS COLLEGE.

A Change in Faculty—Miss Mihills Succeeds Miss Broome.

Owing to the resignation of Miss Frank A. Broome, who has this year so successfully taught art in the Texas Woman's College, it became necessary to secure her successor. Miss Broome's resignation took effect last Saturday and on the same day Miss Maud Mihills of Houston, reported for duty. Thus the work of the department proceeds without a break.

Miss Mihills is well trained. She is a graduate of Pratt Institute Brooklyn from the course in Decorative and Applied Design. The president, Walter S. Perry writes: "The work of this course includes composition lettering, instrumental drawing, cast drawing, nature study, historic ornament, pen and ink drawing, free hand perspective, water color, and design as applied to stained glass surface designing, furniture design and interior decorations; also a course of thirty-five lectures on the history of art."

"Miss Mihills had a very good record in all these subjects and her instructors all speak well of her."

She studied painting in oil from landscapes and the costumed figure under W. L. Lathrop, well known for his paintings exhibited yearly in New York. She also does good work in china painting.

President Charlton of the T. W. C. wishes to say in this connection that the steadfast purpose of the college is that its work in all departments be worthy the full confidence of its patrons.

THE WEATHER.

Special to the Bryan Eagle.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 17.—Tonight fair; warmer. Thursday increasing cloudiness; warmer.—Cline.

Weather Notes.

Galveston, Texas, Feby. 17.—The storm area is now central over the Virginias, and snow, sleet and rain have been general from the Mississippi river eastward to the Atlantic coast. The snowfall has been heavy in the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys and in the Lake region. The cold wave in rear of this disturbance has lost much of its intensity. The temperature has fallen from 10 degrees to over 20 degrees in the lower Mississippi valley and east Gulf states, and less than 10 degrees in the Ohio valley. There has been a general warming up west of the Mississippi, the rise in the northwest ranging from 10 to 30 degrees. A second disturbance is moving in over the north Pacific coast and causing rain in that section. In Texas the temperature has risen 14 degrees in the Panhandle and from 2 to 8 degrees elsewhere, except at Brownsville, which had a fall of 2 degrees. The lowest at Brownsville was 30 degrees. At time of report clear skies predominated over this State and the temperature ranged from 18 degrees at Amarillo to 36 degrees at Corpus Christi. The weather in this vicinity will be fair and warm tonight and Wednesday, with light variable winds.

River Forecast.

There will be no important change in the Trinity, Brazos and Colorado rivers. The Trinity rose 1.1 feet at Dallas and 1.8 feet at Riverside in past 24 hours.

Child Burned to Death.

The sad news was received Tuesday night by Mr. W. W. Rudasill of Tabor, and other relatives, of the serious burning of the little year old baby of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brogdon of Dallas. Further news came yesterday morning that the baby died at one o'clock the night before. Mrs. W. J. Brogdon of Manganic Wells, mother of Mr. Brogdon, left for Dallas Wednesday night immediately upon receipt of the news of the frightful accident, but did not reach there until after the baby's death.

The remains arrived here last night and will be laid to rest at Alexander this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Brogdon were both reared in this county. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brogdon of Manganic Wells, and Mrs. Brogdon a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudasill of Tabor. They have the profound sympathy of their many friends in their deep affliction.

Notice of Sealed Bids.
